FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LIMITED LIFETIME WITH UNLIMITED POTENTIAL

Patented Innovative Headgear: From no hair to long hair, you're covered.

[OLNEY, TEXAS] 10//2022 — With a limited lifetime remaining, giving up is never an option for SKULAIR® inventor Lisa Lunsford. Lisa is a lady of perseverance and commitment with a vision to leave a legacy that will benefit veterans.

Lisa said, “My version of a perfect world is to create an environment to train veterans who are in need, so they have the knowledge, skills and ability to re-enter the civilian world with dignity, respect, financial, mental and emotional soundness.”

Due to health conditions, Lisa's lifetime is limited, so she has launched her patented SKULAIR® headgear with the utmost urgency. After a few years of touring both coasts of the United States solo on her Harley Davidson motorcycle, she dedicated countless hours to researching headgear that would improve safety for motorcycle riders. Because of her efforts, everyone can receive the value & benefit from this patented, innovative and functional headgear.

SKULAIR® was born during an effort to see as much of the U.S.A. as possible before health complications reduced travel opportunities. Lisa's journey now continues with the next phase of mass production and global distribution of the SKULAIR® product line. We need your help to reach buyers who would find the product valuable and potential investors willing to assist with development and expansion.

ABOUT SKULAIR® LLC:

SKULAIR® was founded by Lisa Lunsford because her long hair interfered with her motorcycling. As a result, she designed, tested and patented SKULAIR® headgear so that everyone could enjoy outdoor activities without the limitations associated with having long hair.
